

CHOWFA MAKU VAJIRAVUDH WANTS AN AMERICAN WIFE—ANY GIRL WANT HIM?

London.—Chowfa Make Vajiravudh, king of Siam, wants to marry an American wife, as his father, King Mongkut, had a hundred wives, but since the young king visited the United States he has been strongly in favor of monogamy or the one-wife rule.

Vajiravudh, who is now 34, was educated in Europe and he has traveled the world over; his ideas in matters of public policy and social life are progressive and he wants an American helpmate to aid him in carrying out his advanced ideas.

In his three years' reign he has shown courage and foresight. He has carried out his father's wishes in affairs of state and religion; he has changed age-old customs with fearless directness. "Whatever I may have gained from the West I shall engraft on the East, but my people must remain Siamese," said his majesty on his coronation.

—O—O—
THRIFT SHOULD BE NATIONAL IDEAL—TEACH IT TO CHILD

King of Siam

Helen Sumner

HARRY S. SUMNER

Miss Helen Sumner is the statistical expert of the children's bureau at Washington and superintendent of